Course overview

Legal project management is a key skills area for the successful in-house lawyer. Project management skills are relevant to many job roles but in the legal arena there are unique processes and challenges that also need to be taken into consideration.

Honing project management skills empowers in-house lawyers to handle legal projects with greater efficiency, effectiveness, and strategic alignment, ultimately contributing to the success and competitive advantage of their organisations

Are you fully up to date with the best practices for managing legal projects effectively, to time and budget? This intense masterclass will give you the skills you need to be successful in this area of your role.

Benefits of attending

During this masterclass, the expert trainer will share his knowledge and experience to help you:

- Understand how to agree the scope and objectives of a project
- Develop your skills in understanding the availability of resources
- Consider how to initiate projects and get buy-in from team members
- Gain knowledge of working to timescales and within budgets
- Learn how to monitor progress and communicate that to stakeholders
- Get to grips with paying attention to detail

Who should attend?

This interactive webinar has been specifically designed for busy in-house and corporate lawyers dealing with multiple projects. The key skills discussed are essential for all lawyers and managers of legal teams who want to support their business by implementing, managing and bringing projects to a successful conclusion, on time and to budget.
