Overview

Join us for this essential one-hour session to understand

What is Martyn's Law and Why Does it Matter? In the wake of increasing concerns about public safety and security, new legislation is set to transform how venues and events operate across the UK. This practical, informative talk will equip you with the knowledge needed to navigate the upcoming requirements of Martyn's Law – officially known as the Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Bill. You'll gain clarity on whether your premises or events fall within scope, understand your legal obligations, and discover actionable steps you can take now to ensure compliance and enhance the safety of your visitors and staff.

Benefits of attending

- Gain a comprehensive overview of Martyn's Law, including its background, objectives, and the timeline for implementation
- Learn how to determine whether your premises or events are covered by the new legislation and what tier of requirements applies to you
- Discover practical steps you can take immediately to start preparing for compliance before the law becomes enforceable
- Understand how proper preparation can minimise security risks and protect your organisation from potential legal consequences
- Benefit from the knowledge of an experienced compliance professional who can answer your specific questions

Who should attend?

- Security managers
- Safety managers
- Compliance managers
- People responsible for managing large venues or events that can be accessed by members of the public

Presenter

Jodie Read

Jodie Read, Managing Director of Penarth Management Limited, joined the business as a Consultant in 2000 and became the Managing Director in 2006. She is actively involved in quality, environmental, health and safety, information security and business continuity compliance consultancy and training, whilst also being responsible for managing the teams who are assigned to look after clients. Jodie is also the lead contact for Mango Compliance Software implementation projects.

Following the publication of the Public Inquiry from the attack on Manchester Arena, Jodie identified a number of missed opportunities in relation to compliance. Recognising that the introduction of the Terrorism (Protection of Premises) Bill, colloquially known as "Martyn's Law" after Martyn Hett, one of the 22 innocent victims of the attack, will present challenges for some organisations, Jodie founded The Protect Alliance (UK) and is working extensively with like-minded businesses who share her passion to help organisations to implement simple but robust processes to ensure that they can meet their legal and moral duty to protect people.
